

Betashares Moderately Geared High Growth Portfolio

betashares

Investment Objective

The Betashares Moderately Geared High Growth Portfolio aims to deliver capital growth and income consistent with a high growth risk-return profile. It is designed for investors with a high risk tolerance who are seeking the majority of their exposure to growth assets while being comfortable with a high level of market volatility and the use of leverage.

The portfolio invests in a selection of funds that provide broad exposure across different asset classes and investment strategies. Portfolio construction incorporates both passive and smart-beta strategies, targeting factors such as value, quality, and momentum, while the use of a 'moderately geared' ETF as part of the growth asset allocation frees up capital to allow more opportunity to seek enhanced risk-adjusted returns.

Yield and Portfolio Characteristics

NUMBER OF ETF HOLDINGS	13

Note: The portfolio includes a moderately geared fund (the Betashares Wealth Builder Diversified All Growth Geared (30-40% LVR) Complex ETF (ASX: GHHF)).

GHHF combines investors' money with borrowed funds and invests the proceeds in a blend of cost-effective ETFs traded on the ASX and other global exchanges, providing exposure to a broadly diversified basket of Australian and global equities. Gearing is managed internally within the fund. The gearing ratio (being the total amount borrowed expressed as a percentage of the total assets of the fund) will generally vary between 30% and 40% on a given day.

The gearing ratio of between 30% and 40% means that the GHHF's geared exposure is anticipated to vary between ~143% and 167% of the fund's net asset value on a given day. The fund's portfolio exposure is actively monitored and adjusted to stay within this range. The fund's returns will not necessarily be in this range over periods longer than a day, primarily due to the effects of rebalancing to maintain the daily target geared exposure range, the compounding of investment returns over time and the impact of fees and costs.

Gearing magnifies gains and losses and may not be a suitable strategy for all investors. Investors in geared strategies should be willing to accept higher levels of investment volatility and potentially large moves (both up and down) in the value of their investment. Geared investments involve higher risk than non-geared investments.

The Betashares Moderately Geared High Growth Portfolio does not currently provide exposure to any geared investment other than GHHF.

Portfolio risks include: the investment objective may not be achieved, market risk, currency risk with international investments, interest rate risk and counterparty default risk with bond investments, and in relation to GHHF, gearing risk, rebalancing and compounding risk, and lender risk.

*As at 30 May 2025. The indirect costs are the weighted average management costs of the underlying funds in the portfolio and can be expected to change over time as asset allocations (e.g. taking into account market movements) and underlying investment vehicles change. These indirect costs do not include certain other costs, such as transaction costs (e.g. brokerage or bid ask spreads) that investors incur when implementing their portfolios or any costs charged for use of any applicable platform.

**Each portfolio's actual gross exposure may vary from this amount as the geared exposure of the underlying geared ETF included in the portfolio will vary within its daily geared exposure range, and the allocation to the geared ETF may vary over time, e.g. due to market movements.
