

Betashares Martin Currie Real Income Fund (managed fund)

 ASX: RINC

31 January 2024

Objective

RINC invests in an actively managed portfolio primarily comprising listed Australian real assets, such as A-REITs, utilities and infrastructure securities. Up to 20% of the portfolio may be allocated to listed real assets in other global developed countries. RINC aims to generate a pre-tax income yield higher than that produced by the S&P/ ASX 200 Index, and to increase that income above the rate of inflation (as measured by the Consumer Price Index) over the long term. RINC is managed by Martin Currie, a leading equities manager and member of the Franklin Templeton Group.

Benefits

Attractive, growing income

RINC invests in quality companies that own 'hard' physical assets and are expected to pay strong dividend income from reliable revenue streams.

Keep pace with inflation

Real asset businesses are typically well-positioned to increase revenue and profit over time, enabling them to grow income in excess of the rise in the cost of living.

Lower concentration risk than Australian Property Securities Index

As RINC's focus is broader than property, it provides more diversified exposure to listed real assets, avoiding the sector and stock concentration issues associated with the A-REIT Index. The ability to include some allocation to international securities provides opportunity for exposure to real asset sub-sectors not available in Australia.

Lower volatility

RINC targets lower volatility than the S&P/ASX 200 Index.

Monthly commentary

What happened in the market?

The Australian real asset universe underperformed the broader Australian equity market in January. The listed real estate market was up 1.2% in January (as measured by the S&P/ASX 300 A-REIT Accumulation Index). Infrastructure was down -1.8% in January (as measured by the S&P/ASX Infrastructure Accumulation Index). Utilities were down -1.5% in January (as measured by the S&P/ASX 300 Utilities Accumulation Index). In comparison, the Australian equity market rose 1.2% in January (as measured by the S&P/ASX 200 Accumulation Index).

What happened in the Fund?

The Fund was down 0.24% for the month of January. Within the Fund, at the stock level, Digital Realty Trust, Scentre Group and HomeCo Daily Needs REIT were the largest positive contributors, while Guangdong Investment, AGL Energy and Atlas Arteria Group were the biggest detractors. At the sector level, real estate was the largest positive contributor, followed by communication services, while utilities and infrastructure detracted.

Positives within the Fund included US data centre REIT Digital Realty Trust was strong with no stock-specific news, likely benefitting from supportive macro data, with extremely strong leasing take up in data centres particularly across North America and Europe. In Australia, a weaker than expected fourth quarter 2023 CPI print provided a positive backdrop for Real Assets, most notably REITs, with retail landlords Scentre Group and HomeCo Daily Needs REIT both strong on no stock-specific news flow.

On the other side, water distribution company Guangdong Investment was soft following the write down of some its investment property portfolio assets. Along with other Hong Kong stocks, Guangdong was also negatively impacted by ongoing negative sentiment towards the Chinese property market. Mild weather in the Southern States of Australia has seen weaker retail energy sales volumes as well as a softer forward electricity price curve, with the market holding some concern around the potential impact on electricity and gas retailer AGL Energy's earnings. Global toll road operator Atlas Arteria Group underperformed on negative sentiment following the French Government increase to taxes on the transport infrastructure sector. In addition, recent strength in the AUD will reduce reported cashflows given all key assets are offshore.
